FORWARD

We have developed this guide to inform you of the numerous opportunities at independent colleges and universities in New York State through the Higher Education Opportunity Program.

I urge you to take advantage of one of the many programs available. If you are not eligible for HEOP, there are many other Federal, State, and institutional programs of financial aid, and some campus programs of academic support, for which you might well qualify. The local campus is your best source of information about these possibilities.

I appreciate your interest in furthering your education. I hope this guide and the program it describes can help you achieve your goals.

INTRODUCTION

In 1966, the Governor and the Legislature approved a bill to provide access to higher education for the "educationally and economically disadvantaged" students in New York State. The program known as Search for Education, Elevation, and Knowledge (SEEK) was begun at The City University of New York (CUNY). The College Discovery Program which was already in existence at community colleges in New York City was continued, and the State University of New York (SUNY) started the Educational Opportunity Program (EOP). In 1970, legislation established the Higher Education Opportunity Program (HEOP) at independent colleges and universities in New York State.

These programs are designed to meet the special needs of students from disadvantaged backgrounds. Among the strategies available to meet these needs are screening, testing, counseling, tutoring, teaching, and financial assistance.

In general, students in opportunity programs are individuals from low income families, with high potential for successful collegiate experience but who have not acquired the verbal, mathematical, and other cognitive skills required for collegiate level work. Generally, their grades fall in the bottom half of their high school graduating classes. They are students who have not earned Regents diplomas, are assigned to high schools which have poor records for developing students, or have been tracked or scheduled into general, commercial, or vocational high school programs.

Students eligible for HEOP will generally rank low on such traditional measures of collegiate admissions as the SAT scores, high school average, class standing, or Regents Scholarship examinations.

Opportunity programs are available for students living in urban and rural areas. They are available at two- and four-year levels, at public and independent colleges, and in every academic discipline and career field. Students are selected without regard to sex, ethnicity, race, handicap, or religious background.

HIGHER EDUCATION OPPORTUNITY PROGRAM

What is HEOP?

The Higher Education Opportunity Program (HEOP) provides supportive services and financial aid to New York State residents attending independent colleges and universities in New York State.

Who is Eligible?

To be eligible for HEOP you must meet all of the following conditions. You must:

1. Have been a resident of New York State for one year preceding your term of entry into HEOP.
2. Be educationally disadvantaged. An educationally disadvantaged student is a student who otherwise would not be accepted under the institution's normal admissions standards at a matriculated status in a degree program for which application is made. At open admissions institutions, an educationally disadvantaged student must meet one of the following criteria:
   a. Possess a high school equivalency diploma; or
   b. Possess the equivalent of a GED; or
   c. Have no high school diploma; or
   d. Meet other acceptable academic criteria which differentiate the HEOP student from regularly admitted students (e.g., lower test scores, lower GED scores).
3. Be economically disadvantaged. Guidelines for determining economic eligibility are on page 3.
4. Possess a high school diploma or a State-approved equivalency diploma or its equivalent.

   The equivalent of a general equivalency diploma is defined as being one of the following: (A) an Armed Forces Equivalency Diploma, with a minimum score of 35 (40 after September 1, 1985) on each test section and a minimum composite score of 225; (B) a level of knowledge and academic ability equal to the level required for entrance to the educational opportunity program at the institution to which the individual seeks admission.
5. Have the potential and motivation for the successful completion of college.
6. Not be the recipient of a Regents Scholarship won in countywide competition or of a Regents Nursing Scholarship. However, honor recipients of Regents Scholarships won in local school competitions are eligible for consideration.
7. (if transfer) Have been in an approved opportunity program.

How Do I Apply?

To apply for admission to a Higher Education Opportunity Program (HEOP), request an application from the institution that you are interested in attending. There are 61 HEOP programs throughout New York State, offering a wide variety of academic courses in major fields of study. Specific information can be obtained by writing to the HEOP program on that campus. A roster of HEOP programs is listed at the end of this section.

Please note: Many independent colleges require you to apply by April 1 of the year before you intend to begin. These dates vary at each campus. Please plan to apply as early as possible.

If I Am Accepted – What Next?

Summary Program. Entering students usually are required to take part in a pre-freshman summer program. The summer program is designed to orient the student to college life, initiate a program of academic skills-building, and acquaint the student with the services available through HEOP.

Supportive Services. During the academic year, supportive services take many forms:

a. Remedial and Developmental Courses

If you need additional academic assistance to prepare you for college-level work, HEOP can meet your academic needs. Before you begin your classes, the HEOP professional staff will evaluate your academic strengths and weaknesses, and design a specific academic program to help eliminate your academic deficiencies. You will have the opportunity to take credit and non-credit remedial/developmental courses. These courses provide instruction in basic skills, reading, writing, vocabulary, mathematics, and other areas of study.

b. Tutorial Services

HEOP provides students with tutorial services to assist students with their academic courses. Tutorial services are conducted on a one-to-one basis or in groups, depending on the needs of the individual students. Some tutors are competent, experienced HEOP students and some are professional tutors.

c. Counseling

Counseling services are provided by the HEOP staff on an individual or group basis to assist you with any problems which may interfere with your academic work. You may receive the following types of counseling:

Academic – The HEOP counselor will assist you in selecting your academic major and courses. You can take a reduced course load during your first semester. You are also given an extra year of eligibility, if needed, to graduate.

Personal – Adjustment to college life often presents many new problems for HEOP students. Counseling helps you develop your self-confidence, identity, and a positive attitude about learning.

Career – Students are often undecided about what to do after graduation. The HEOP staff will assist you in making career choices. Career counseling will help you in selecting the necessary courses to prepare you for employment or postgraduate study.

Can I Afford To Attend College?

HEOP provides colleges with funds to help meet the cost of your education. You will also be eligible for other State, Federal, and institutional financial aid awards. Students are required to apply for the State's Supplemental Tuition Assistance Program (STAP) and/or the Tuition Assistance Program (TAP) and the Federal Pell Grant.

The amount of financial aid and the application procedures vary from campus to campus. HEOP students are expected to contribute to the cost of their education from family savings or summer earnings. Specific information can be obtained by contacting the HEOP office or financial aid office at the college you are interested in attending.

Economic Eligibility Criteria for Opportunity Programs

Family Income Scale for Purposes of Determining Eligibility for Supplemental Financial Assistance for First-time Students Enrolled in Opportunity Programs.

1. A student is economically disadvantaged if he or she is a member of a household supported by one member thereof with a total annual income which does not exceed the applicable amount set forth in the following table; or of a household supported by more than one worker thereof; or a household in which one worker is the sole support of a one-parent family, if the total annual income of such household does not exceed the applicable amount set forth by more than $2,500. For the purposes of this subdivision, the number of members of a household shall be determined by ascertaining the number of individuals living in the student's residence who are economically dependent on the income supporting the student.

For students first entering college after July 1, 1987:

Number of members in household (including head of household)	Total annual income in preceding calendar year
1	$ 7,600
2	10,100
3	12,600
4	15,400
5	18,400
6	21,600
7	24,100
8	26,600
9 or more	29,400 plus $2,500 for each family member in excess of 9

2. A maximum of 15 percent of the students admitted to a HEOP program may come from families whose income exceeds the family scale when unusual and extenuating circumstances warrant. Documentation of these circumstances shall be kept on file by the institutions at which such students are enrolled, and shall be corroborated by a disinterested, reliable third party.

Categories into which the exceptions may fall are limited to the following:

a. Serious mismanagement of the family income, with little accruing to the interest of the student.
b. A one-time fluctuation in family income, with a history of low income.
c. Families with long-term, nonreimbursed medical obligations such as maintenance of physically or mentally handicapped children.
d. Families which must maintain two households, one for the wage earner and one for the dependents in order to maintain employment.

3. Reference to the family income scale need not be made if the student falls into one of the following categories and documentation is present:

a. The student's family is the recipient of: (1) Aid to Dependent Children, (2) Home Relief, or (3) Family Day Care payments through a New York State or a county Department of Social Services;
b. The student is living with foster parents who do not provide support for college, and no monies are provided from the natural parents;
c. The student is a ward of the State or a county.

PROLOGO

Hemos publicado esta guía para informar a usted sobre las muchas oportunidades disponibles en las instituciones independientes de nivel universitario en el Estado de Nueva York a través del Programa de Oportunidades Educativas Universitarias conocido como "HEOP" ("Higher Education Opportunity Program").

Le exhorto a que se aproveche de uno de los muchos programas disponibles. En caso que no fuera usted elegible para participar del "HEOP", hay muchos otros programas federales, estatales e institucionales que ofrecen ayuda económica, así como algunos programas de la misma universidad que le ofrecen asistencia económica, para los cuales podría usted muy bien ser elegible. La misma institución es la mejor fuente de información sobre las posibilidades de participar en estos programas.

Aprecio su interés en continuar su educación. Espero que esta guía y los programas que aquí se describen le puedan ayudar a lograr sus objetivos.

I.

INTRODUCCION

En el 1966, el Gobernador y la Legislatura aprobaron una ley para proveer acceso igual para los estudiantes del Estado de Nueva York con "desventajas educativas y económicas" a obtener una educación universitaria. El programa conocido como "SEEK – Search for Education, Elevation, and Knowledge" empezó en la Universidad de la Ciudad de Nueva York ("CUNY"). El "College Discovery Program" que existió ya en los colegios regionales de la Ciudad de Nueva York se continuó y la Universidad Estatal de Nueva York ("SUNY") inició el Programa de Oportunidades Educativas Universitarias ("Educational Opportunity Program – EOP"). En el 1970, la ley estableció el Programa de Oportunidades Educativas Universitarias ("Higher Education Opportunity Program – HEOP") en las instituciones independientes de nivel universitario en el Estado de Nueva York.

Estos programas están diseñados para satisfacer las necesidades especiales de los estudiantes con desventajas. Entre las medidas disponibles para satisfacer estas necesidades están la selección de estudiantes, la administración de exámenes, servicios de consejería, tutoría y ayuda en la enseñanza y asistencia económica.

Por lo general, los estudiantes que participan en estos programas de oportunidades son personas que vienen de familias con bajos ingresos económicos y con un alto potencial para realizar efectivamente la labor universitaria, pero que no han adquirido las destrezas verbales, matemáticas y otras destrezas del conocimiento que se requieren para hacer el trabajo del nivel superior. Generalmente, su promedio académico general cae en la mitad inferior de la clase en que se gradúan de escuela superior. Son estudiantes que no han obtenido el diploma otorgado por la Junta de Regentes de escuela superior ("Regents diploma"); han sido asignados a escuelas superiores con un historial académico deficiente para preparar estudiantes; o han sido asignados o designados en los programas generales, comerciales o vocacionales de escuela superior.

Los estudiantes elegibles para el "HEOP", por lo general, ocupan una posición baja según los criterios tradicionales de admisión a la universidad tal como el examen de aprovechamiento ("SAT"), el promedio de escuela superior, rango en la clase, y en los exámenes que se ofrecen para las Becas de la Junta de Regentes.

Los programas de oportunidades están disponibles para los estudiantes que viven tanto en la zona urbana, como en la rural. Estos programas están disponibles para las instituciones de dos o de cuatro años de estudios, en instituciones públicas o independientes (privadas) y en cada disciplina académica o campo profesional. Los estudiantes son seleccionados sin discriminación de sexo, procedencia étnica, raza, o religión.

II.

EL PROGRAMA DE OPORTUNIDADES EDUCATIVAS UNIVERSITARIAS ("HEOP")

¿Qué es el "HEOP"?

"HEOP" o el Programa de Oportunidades Educativas Universitarias provee servicios de ayuda académica y económica a los residentes del Estado de Nueva York que asisten a una institución independiente (privada) de nivel universitario en el Estado de Nueva York.

¿Quién es elegible?

Usted debe:

1. Haber sido residente del Estado de Nueva York por un año antes del periodo escolar al que piensa entrar en el programa "HEOP".
2. Tener desventajas, tanto económicas como educativas. Vea los criterios en la página para determinar la elegibilidad económica.

   Un estudiante con desventajas educativas, según el "HEOP", es aquél graduado de escuela superior o uno que tiene un diploma de equivalencia aprobado por el estado.

   Un equivalente a un diploma de equivalencia general se define como uno de los siguientes: (A) un diploma de equivalencia de las Fuerzas Armadas, con una puntuación mínima de 35 en cada sección del examen y un mínimo de 225 en la puntuación total; (B) un nivel de conocimiento y de habilidad académica igual al nivel requerido para admisión al programa de oportunidades educativas en la institución a la que la persona está solicitando admisión.
3. Tener el potencial y la motivación para terminar con éxito una educación universitaria.
4. Ser un estudiante que no cumpla con los requisitos normales de admisión como estudiante matriculado en un programa conducente a un grado o título universitario, para el cual se hizo la solicitud.
5. No son elegibles las personas que han ganado Becas de la Junta de Regentes por medio de competencias llevadas a cabo a través del Condado. Sin embargo, serán consideradas como elegibles las personas que hayan ganado Becas de Honor de la Junta de Regentes en competencias escolares locales.
6. No tiene que ser ciudadano de los Estados Unidos o haber sometido una Declaracion de Intencion.
7. Si es transferido de otra institución, usted deberá haber sido aceptado en un Programa de Oportunidades aprobado en la institución de la que viene.
8. Para ser elegible para el "HEOP" en una institución con admisiones abiertas, un estudiante deberá reunir los criterios siguientes:
   a. Poseer un diploma de equivalencia de escuela superior; o
   b. Poseer el equivalente del "GED" – (es el diploma de equivalencia de escuela superior llamado "General Education Development"); o
   c. No poseer un diploma de escuela superior; o
   d. Conformar con las criterias académicas que hace especial al estudiante de "HEOP" en contraste al estudiante admitido bajo de las criterias regulares (e.g., notas bajas de exámenes diagnósticos, notas bajas en el GED).

¿Cómo puedo solicitar?

Para solicitar admisión a un Programa de Oportunidades Educativas Universitarias ("HEOP"), consiga un formulario de solicitud de la institución a la cual le interesa asistir. Existen 61 programas de "HEOP", en el Estado de Nueva York, que ofrecen una gran variedad de cursos académicos en los principales campos de estudio. Puede obtener información específica, escribiendo directamente al programa "HEOP" de la institucion a la cual le interesa entrar. Al final de esta sección, se incluye una lista de los programas del "HEOP".

Por favor fíjese: Muchas instituciónes independientes (privades) requieren que se solicite antes del 1*ro*. de abril del año escolar en el cual desea comenzar sus estudios. Las fechas para solicitar admisión son diferentes en cada institución. Por favor solicite lo antes posible.

Si soy aceptado – ¿qué debo hacer?

El programa de verano. Generalmente, se requiere que los estudiantes participen previamente de un programa de verano antes de entrar al primer año. Este programa de verano está diseñado para orientar a los estudiantes sobre la vida universitaria, iniciar un programa para el desarrollo de destrezas académicas y para familiarizar al estudiante con los servicios disponibles a través del programa "HEOP".

Los servicios de asistencia suplementarios. Los servicios de asistencia suplementarios ofrecidos durante el año académico son variados:

a. Los cursos remediativos y de desarrollo

Si usted necesita preparación académica adicional para capacitarlo para desempeñar la tarea de nivel universitario, el programa "HEOP" evaluará sus potencialidades y fallas académicas y diseñará un programa académico específico para ayudarle a vencer sus deficiencias. Usted tendrá la oportunidad de tomar cursos remediativos y de desarrollo, con o sin créditos. Estos cursos le proveen instrucción en las destrezas básicas de estudio, lectura, escritura, vocabulario, matemáticas, y en otras áreas de estudio.

b. Los servicios de tutoría

El programa "HEOP" provee servicios de tutoría para ayudar a los estudiantes en sus cursos académicos. Estos servicios de tutoría se llevan a cabo individualmente o en grupo, dependiendo de las necesidades particulares de los estudiantes. Algunos tutores son estudiantes competentes de nivel avanzado en el programa de "HEOP" y otros son tutores profesionales.

c. La consejeria

El personal del "HEOP" provee servicios de consejería tanto individual como en grupo para ayudarle con cualquier problema que pueda interferir con su labor académica. Usted recibirá los siguientes tipos de consejería:

Académica – El consejero del "HEOP" le ayudará a seleccionar su campo de concentración y los cursos académicos. Puede tomar una carga académica reducida durante el primer semestre. Además se le puede conceder un año adicional de elegibilidad, si fuera necesario, para graduarse.

Personal – A menudo el ajuste a la vida universitaria ocasiona muchos nuevos problemas a los estudiantes del "HEOP". Los servicios de consejería le ayudan a desarrollar confianza en sí mismos, sentido de auto-identificación y una actitud positiva hacia el estudio.

Carreras y vocaciones – Los estudiantes están frecuentemente indecisos sobre lo que van a hacer después de la graduación. El personal del "HEOP" le ayudará a elegir la carrera que podrá escoger. La orientación vocacional le ayudará a seleccionar los cursos necesarios para prepararlo para empleo o para proseguir estudios graduados.

Económica – El personal del "HEOP" también le provee constantemente orientación sobre asistencia económica.

¿Puedo yo costearme una educación universitaria?

El "HEOP" provee fondos a las instituciones de nivel universitario para ayudar a sufragar su educación. También, usted será elegible para otros tipos de asistencia económica estatal, federal e institucional. Se requiere que los estudiantes soliciten al Programa de Asistencia para Matrícula ("State's Tuition Assistance Program – TAP") y el programa federal de Becas de Pell ("Federal Basic Educational Opportunity Grant – Pell").

La cantidad de asistencia económica y los procedimientos para solicitar la varían de institución en institución. Se espera que los estudiantes del "HEOP" contribuyan a pagar su educación con ahorros de la familia o con el dinero ganado durante el verano. Puede obtener información específica comunicándose con la oficina del "HEOP" o con la oficina de ayuda económica de la institución a la que le interesa asistir.

LOS CRITERIOS DE ELEGIBILIDAD ECONOMICA

Los Criterios de Asistencia Económica para los Programas de Oportunidad.

La escala del ingreso de la familia con el propósito de determinar la elegibilidad para la ayuda económica suplementaria para los estudiantes matriculados por primera vez en los Programas de Oportunidades.

1. Un estudiante es elegible para recibir asistencia o ayuda económica suplementaria si es miembro de una familia mantenida por un miembro de dicha familia cuyo ingreso total anual ("total annual income") no excede la cantidad establecida en la tabla que aparece a continuacion; o miembro de un hogar mantenido por mas de una trabajador, o de un hogar donde sólo una persona trabaja, siendo el unico que matiene a una familia con un sólo padre, si el ingreso total anual ("total annual income") de dicha familia no excede por mas de $2,500 la cantidad indicada en la tabla siguiente. Para realizar los objetivos de la sección, se determinará el número de personas quienes viven en el hogar, además del esudiante, que dependen del sueldo total de la familia.
2. El "HEOP" puede admitir un máximo de 15% (quince por ciento) de estudiantes quienes provienen de familias cuyos ingresos exceden los límites señalados en la escala de familias, siempre y cuando medien circunstancias excepcionales y atenuantes. La institución en la cual está matriculado el estudiante deberá mantener en su archivo la documentación pertiniente a estas circunstancias excepcionales. Estas circunstancias deverán ser corrovoradas por una tercera persona que sea neutral y confiable.

Las categorías dentro de las cuales caen estas excepciones están limitadas a las siguientes:

c. Familias que tienen obligaciones médicas a largo plazo, que no son reembolsadas, tales como el mantenimiento de hijos lisiados o retardados mentales.
d. Familias que tiene que mantener dos hogares, uno para el empleado para mantener su empleo en otro lugar que no es el hogar de los dependientes.

3. No se necesitará hacer referencia a la escala de ingresos de familias si el estudiante cae dentro de las categoriás siguientes, siempre y cuando presente la documentación que lo justifique:
   a. Si la familia del estudiante recibe dinero a través del Departmento de Servicios Sociales, ya sea del Estado o de un Condado de Nueva York;
   b. El estudiante reside con padres de crianza que no le proveen ayuda económica para su educación universitaria, y tampoco recibe dinero de sus padres naturales;
